Treasury

Our children's school days go by so quickly. If you are looking for a fun way to document these precious years, I offer you this colourful collection. For each grade from Kindergarten to Grade 8, you will find the following:

- A printable page to use for the first day of school photo
- A cover page for your folder or binder of stuff for the year.
There are two copies: one for homeschoolers and one for kids in school.
- A first day of school interview worksheet
- A year-in-review worksheet to fill in at the end of the school year

(You will note that Grade Six has two options for photo cards. I used yellow for that year's colour, and wanted to make sure it showed up. Choose whichever one works best for your picture.)

Storing awards, report cards, art work or school projects, written work, birthday cards, and other special items over the course of a year creates a file of memories that will be a fun flashback when they are older. Use a shoebox, a binder with a pocket page, a folder, a drawer. It's worth it.

Happy Back-to-School Adventures!
